Humani Generis Evolution Reading Completely

Catholic evolutionists point to Pope Pius XII's encyclical letter Humani Generis as their Magna Carta for professing belief in macroevolution. However, it is no such thing. A complete, careful, and consistent reading of the document shows that Pius XII was no friend of evolution. He clearly saw the danger it presents to the Catholic faith.

Thus, Humani Generis only allows special theistic evolution to be discussed by faithful and orthodox Catholics. This is the theory that, at some moment in time, God specially intervened in the evolutionary process to create the body of man; that is God moved the evolutionary process forward by a quantum leap so that this new ‘animal’ would be capable of receiving a human soul.
